

Building regulations – building notice guidance notes

A building notice is suitable for most small domestic work. A full plans application is suitable for all types of work. Please contact us if you are unsure which is best for your proposed building work. You can contact us on 01344 352000 or by email - building.control@bracknell-forest.gov.uk.

Additionally, please note that a building notice is not acceptable for the following:

- If the building is or will be put to a use that is designated for the purpose of the Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005.
- If the building is being erected on land adjoining a private street.
- If the proposed building or extension is to be erected over or near a public sewer in accordance with Regulation 12(5).

In the above cases a building regulations full plans application must be submitted.

The building regulations full plans application route has the benefit that your construction plans and specifications are checked and approved for compliance with the building regulations and an approval notice can be issued for your application. You therefore have the benefit of knowing your scheme will comply with the building regulations if it is constructed in accordance with the approved plans. No approval notice can be issued for a building regulations building notice, and there is no procedure to seek a determination from the secretary of state if there is a dispute over the interpretation of the regulations. It may therefore be advisable to use the building regulations full plans procedure if the building work is anything other than simple, minor work.

Anyone intending to carry out building work, or to change the use of a building, is reminded that permission may be required under the Town and Country Planning Act.
