Making life easier at home

Assistive Technology

Technology has made a lot of advances in recent years with things such as televisions, computers and mobile phones. There are also a lot of different types of technology to help people with a wide-range of conditions live at home, while remaining independent and safe. ## Lasting Power of Attorney

It is well known that people should write a will to make sure their loved ones are provided for when they die, but what happens if someone is left unable to make decisions because of the development of dementia, accident or illness?

A Lasting Power of Attorney lets a person appoint someone to make decisions on their behalf. It's normally used when someone is unable to make their own decisions but can be set up at any time.

There are 2 types:

1. Health and Welfare
2. Property and Financial Affairs

People can choose to make one type of Lasting Power of Attorney or both.

1. Health and Welfare Lasting Power of Attorney

This allows someone to choose one person or more to make decisions about things like:

- their daily routine (e.g. eating and what to wear)
- medical care
- moving into a care home
- refusing life-sustaining treatment

This Lasting Power of Attorney can only be used once someone is unable to make their own decisions.

2. Property and Financial Affairs Lasting Power of Attorney

This lets someone choose one person or more to make decisions about money and property for them, e.g.:

- paying bills
- collecting benefits
- selling their home

People can appoint someone to look after their property and financial affairs at any time.

Who can be an attorney?

An attorney can be anyone 18 or over, e.g.:

- a relative
- a friend
- a professional (like a solicitor)
- a person's husband, wife or partner
